

Parahebe catarractae

'Avalanche'

A deep foliage, abundant and delicate white flowers all summer long

Originating in New Zealand, this selection has leathery, regularly toothed evergreen foliage. The shoots are first tender green, changing to a pretty dark green. The young stems are purple-brown. The very floriferous 'Avalanche' covers itself in a cloud of simple, small white flowers with a purple center. Its long summer flowering, a quick growth and bushy shape make this variety an ideal plant for small spaces and pots.

Characteristics

0.40 /
0.50 m

0.40 /
0.50 m

06-09

Season of interest

Summer

Selected by

Stephen BURTON

Edition

SAPHO

European P.B.R

EU 35535

