

Carpinus betulus

ROCKHAMPTON RED 'Lochglow'

A flamboyant autumn

Early in autumn the leaves colour in different shades of bright red and orange. These tints last several weeks, until mid-November. Then the leaves turn brown. They are marcescent.

Growth is rapid. It is oval-shaped but since the variety tolerates pruning very well, it can be grown in a trimmed hedge.

ROCKHAMPTON RED 'Lochglow' is noticeable from far in the autumn and adds a bright note, be it in rows or in hedges.

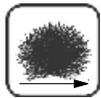

© SAPHO

Characteristics

20.00 m

15.00 m

03

-25°C

Season of interest

Autumn

Selected by

Geoff LOCKE

Edition

SAPHO

European P.B.R.

European plant variety protection

© SAPHO

sapho
DES PLANTES DE BONNE NATURE

Editor of new ornamental garden plants

TO READ MORE
PLEASE VISIT

www.sapho.fr