

Loropetalum chinense 'Ruby Runner'

A beautiful ruby-red colour 'running' all year round!

The name of 'Ruby Runner' comes from its handsome, evergreen foliage of ruby and purple red and its creeping or weeping form. From the end of February to April an abundance of dark pink flowers appear, and, if it is not pruned, Ruby Runner will flower again in summer. Small size and hanging habit create a beautiful impression in low beds, as ground cover or hanging. It favours fertile, well-drained soils and needs little attention.

Characteristics

0,20 m
/ 0,30 m

0,40 m
/ 0,60 m

04 - 05

2-3 cm

-10°C

Resistant to drought

Season(s) of interest

All year long

Selected by

Michael DIRR

Edition

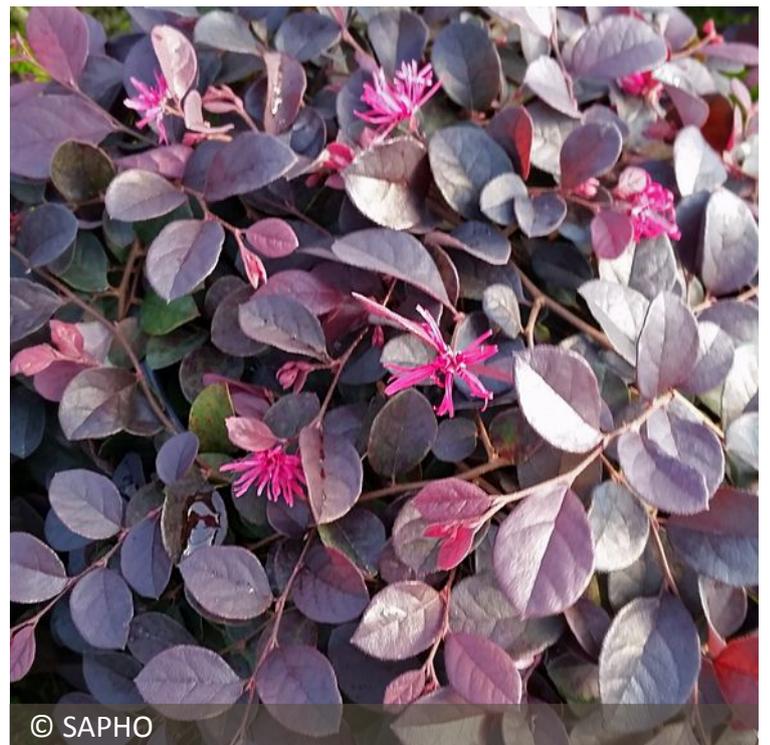

SAPHO

European P.B.R.

European plant variety protection
EU 48825

© SAPHO

© SAPHO

sapho
DES PLANTES DE BONNE NATURE

Editor of new ornamental garden plants

TO READ MORE
PLEASE VISIT

www.sapho.fr